Featured Provider:

Dr. Ngozi Oji is a Board-certified internist and HIV specialist with a special interest in Geriatrics. Dr. Oji has provided primary care at the Bedford Stuyvesant Family Health Center since completing her Internal Medicine residency training in 1996. She is a passionate believer in preventive medicine and partnering with patients to provide the best quality care for them. She is also an advocate for unlimited access to healthcare for everyone.

Dr. Oji developed a Directly Observed Therapy (DOT) program for her noncompliant and mentally challenged patient to get them to their desired healthcare goals. She has served as a member of NYC HIV Planning Council and the NYS HIV Quality Care Committee. She received the 2006 Woody Brown Hope Award from the Bedford-Stuyvesant-Crown Heights HIV Care Network and other distinguished awards for community service from various organizations.

Dr. Oji received her medical degree from the College of Medicine, University of Nigeria, Enugu, in 1995. She completed residency training in Radiology before leaving Nigeria, and completed Internal Medicine training at St. John's Episcopal Hospital in Far Rockaway, New York. Dr. Oji is affiliated with SUNY Downstate Medical Center and Interfaith Medical Center in Brooklyn. She is an avid believer in the value of education and philanthropy. Dr. Oji and her family have been involved in equipping a library with books in a village of her native country, Nigeria.
